LOCKE STUDIES

Vol. 17

<https://doi.org/10.5206/lis.2017.891> | ISSN: 2561-925X

Originally published: 2017

Published online: 01 JANUARY 2019

© Locke Studies, 2017

Back Matter

TIMOTHY STANTON (YORK UNIVERSITY)

Recommended citation:

Stanton, Timothy. "Back Matter." Locke Studies 17 (2017): n.p. <https://doi.org/10.5206/lis.2017.891>.

For more information about this article:

see this article's webpage.

Locke Studies is published by The John Locke Society.

This is an open access article published under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 4.0 International license, which permits use, distribution and reproduction in any medium, provided the original work is properly cited and shared under the original license.

THE JOHN LOCKE SOCIETY

MISSION

The John Locke Society (JLS) is an international organization which aims to:

- promote the study of Locke and his philosophical, political, and theological contexts;
- further excellent scholarship in these diverse areas;
- promote mutually beneficial interactions among scholars.

HISTORY

The John Locke Society grew out of a series of Locke Workshops, wherein Locke scholars gathered to discuss works-in-progress. The first Workshop was hosted by Ruth Boeker (UC Dublin) at St. Andrews in June 2012. But it was at the 2016 workshop held at the CUNY Graduate Center and co-hosted by Jessica Gordon-Roth, Benjamin Hill, and Kathryn Tabb (Columbia) that the idea of forming a scholarly society took off in earnest.

MOTIVATION

John Locke's contributions to philosophy, politics, and economics are largely unknown to the general public. Within academic philosophy, Locke scholarship thrives, but within narrow disciplinary limits. Locke's writings still do not tend to be treated systematically, or holistically. Those who work on Locke's epistemology and metaphysics are largely unaware of the preoccupations of those who work on Locke's politics, and vice versa. The John Locke Society aims to remedy these issues.

MEMBERSHIP

Members of the Society enjoy many benefits, including privileged access to research and teaching materials. Several types of memberships are available. For further details, see:

<https://thejohnlockesociety.com/memberships/>

- 5 Recent Publications
 JOHN C. ATTIG
- 39 Locke's Orthography and the Dating of his Writings
 J. R. MILTON
- 49 A Puzzle in the Print History of Locke's Essay
 PATRICK J. CONNOLLY
- 61 Locke's Ontology of Relations
 SAMUEL C. RICKLESS
- 87 Locke on Individuation and Kinds
 JOSEPH STENBERG
- 117 Toland and Locke in the Leibniz-Burnett Correspondence
 STEWART DUNCAN
- 143 Shaftesbury, Locke, and their Revolutionary Letter?
 D. N. DELUNA
- 173 Locke and Hate Speech Law: A Critical Review
 J. K. NUMAO
- 197 Locke's Political Theology and the 'Second Treatise'
 JOANNE TETLOW
- 233 Locke and the Churchill Catalogue Revisited
 JOHN SAMUEL HARPHAM